CALL FOR PAPERS

We invite you to submit your paper to the 7th Artificial Economics international conference that will be held in The Hague (NL), Sept 1-2, 2011.

AIMS AND SCOPE

Artificial Economics 2011 is the 7th edition of a series that started in 2005. Previous meetings took place in Treviso (2010), Valladolid (2009), Innsbruck (2008), Palermo (2007), Aalborg (2006) and Lille (2005). The conference is devoted to recent scientific advances in the field of Agent-Based Computational Economics, which deals with the computational study of economies as complex adaptive systems, composed of interacting agents with cognitive skills. The main aim of the Symposium is to facilitate the meeting of people working on different topics in different fields in order to encourage a structured multi-disciplinary approach to Social Sciences. Presentations and keynote sessions center around multi-agent modelling, both from application and computer-based tool perspective. Topics include (but are not limited to):

- Agent-Based Computational Economics
- The Economy as an Adaptive System
- Financial Markets and Organization Models
- Market Dynamics
- Agent-Based Macroeconomics
- Automated Markets and Trading Agents
- Dynamics of Social and Economic Networks
- Discrete Choice Models in Economics and Management Sciences
- Experimental Economics and Agent-Based models
- Emergence and Dynamics of Norms and Conventions
- Methodological Issues

The event will last two days in order to favour formal and informal occasions for sharing ideas. The final programme will offer presentations of papers reviewed and selected by the Programme Committee, as well as special sessions by invited keynote speakers.

INVITED SPEAKERS

Nigel GILBERT, Department of Sociology, University of Surrey, United Kingdom; Editor of the Journal of Artificial Societies and Social Simulation (JASSS).

Catholijn JONKER, Man-Machine Interaction; Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands
